THE SANTO DOMINGO QUESTION TO BE REVIVED —SENATOR SCHURZ ON REPORM. BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Oct. 11, 1671. That a strong and vigorous effort will be made early in the next session of Congress to consummate the Santo The friends of the proposition are confident of success, and openly declare their purpose to urge the matter strongly before the two Houses of Congress. Dr. Fisher W. Ames, the United States Consul at Santo Demingo City, and Mr. Frank Pabens, arrived here to-night. They left the island on the 1st inst. The elder Fabens has been here several days. It is probable they are here in con. nection with the new treaty, which, it is known, has been preparing for some time. In this connection, it is stated, on undoubted authority, that the President has declared his purpose not to refer to the subject of next annexation in his annual message. Senator Schurz indorses the new Reform party movement recently started in Tennessee. His friends in Washington assert that his letters recently received approve this course as one likely to bring about civil serv ice reform and the other principles which the Benator has all along contended for, and which were enunciated in his late speech at Nashville. It is stated that he urged the leaders of this so-called referm to make this move. Controller Taylor, in a decision relative to our consular service, declares that a Vice-Consul who is not a citizen of the United States cannot be paid a salary or other compensation from the Treasury. In the absence of direct authority of law, an allen cannot hold office under the United States Government, and in the case of consular officers there is no such law. The act of Angust 18, 1856, to regulate the diplomatic and consular systems of the United States, forbid the payment of compensation to officers mentioned in Schedules Band C of the third section, who shall not be citizens of the United States, the states are not mentioned in Schedules Band C of the third section, who shall not be citizens of the United States. These schedules embraced all Consuls whose compensation was provided for at the Treasury, and all whose salaries were $1,000 and upward. Vice-Consuls are not mentioned in the gchedules, but being officers of the United States, having full congular powers, they are within the spirit of the law. An alien cannot take either of the oaths of office prescribed for citizens releved of political disabilities, and the taking of one of the other of these oaths is imperatively required of every officer before entering upon the discharge of his dutles, and before becoming entitled to compensation. It is inferred, from a loint regulation approved April 29, 1816, that Congress did not regard the spipointment of an alien to office as lawful or constitutional. Under that resolution Gen. Bernard, a French subject, was employed as an "assistant" to the Esgineer-in-Chief of the Army, and continued to be seemployed until August, 1831, when he feturned to France. During his tenure of service, Gen. Bernard had no official rank, except that allowed him through courtesy. No other person was employed in the capacity of assistant to the engineer, and the resolution was repeated July 14, 1852.

The Board of Supervising Inspectors of Steamboats had a short fession to-day, and informally considered the new Steamboat laws. They also heard Mr. Ingersol of New-York, who is here with several fife-preservers endeavoring to secure their adoption by the Board. THE VIELE DIVORCE SUIT-A CORRECTION.

Six: The statement purporting to have been case was called on Oct. 9, in the Supreme Court, to the a proposition which in substance gave him the results of a trial in his favor, and that unless the provision of such an arrangement were carried out, he should be ready for a trial in December next—is a perversion of the facts, of which such statement is predicated, and does me such great injustice that I have no alternative but to correct it publicly. Mr. Viele states that he was ready for the trial-so was I. The proposition for adjustment came from him in a letter addressed by his counsel to came from him in a letter addressed by his counsel to mine; although an arrangement of all matters and differences between us was suggested by Judge William Fullerton, my sentor counsel, and acted upon by the other side. The arrangement which was entered into gives me the substantial results of a trial in my favor in the action pending, in which I am plaintiff, and unless those atipulations are carried out, for my benefit, I shall be ready to urge the trial on the first of December next. I do not claim that I desire any advantage over Mr. Vielé by this arrangement, nor shall his counsel assert one over me without contradiction. The proposition that these controversies which involve his honor, my own, and that of the children of our marriage, as well as of a woman not concerned in the action, be arranged, was made by Judges Pulietton in a splikt as moble as it was wise, and without any design, as wiss supposed, that either should claim any advantage over the other. If Mr. Harrison did use the language imputed to him, he is quite at liberty to enjoy all the satisfaction to be derived from reopening an unpleasant controversy, which was on the eve of a satisfactory adjustment.

SHODDY BLANKETS-TESTIMONY OF A SOLDIER'S

WIDOW.
To the Editor of The Tribune.

SIR: I was very glad to see that you have exposed Tom. Murphy and the many frauds he commit ted in supplying our army during the late war. I am a soldier's widow, with three orphan children, and am working day and night for their support. I attribute the death of my husband to Murphy's shoddy blankets. They were sent to my husband's regiment during the Winter of 1864; they actually fell apart in a few days, and he, with many others, perished with the cold that Winter. I have several letters in my possession from my husband before his death, containing a description of Murphy's shoddy blankets and the way the poor fellows suffered, which I will send you for publication if required. Why do not the public call on Murphy through your paper to make restitution of half a million dollars for the benefit of the many widows and orphans his shoddy blankets made during the wart See to this, and you will have the blessing of many an orphan.

WHERE BOUTWELL'S GOLD IS NEEDED.

To the Editor of The Tribune. SIR: The Chicago calamity is without a parallel; let the action of the country be so in response to the needs of the case. The President has acted worthily by promptly ordering food in the most immediately available form. Contributions of goods and money for present use will be made to a large extent by individuals and communities. But these means of relief will all be but of small amount when compared with the will all be but of small amount when compared with the calamity that has come upon our Western brethren. In view of this manifest inadequacy, I suggest, as an answer to your oft-repeated inquiry, "Why is $100,000,000 of gold retained in the Treasury I" it might now be made available if it can be advanced as a long loan, or made a gift from the nation to suffering Chicago. The latter course, it seems to me, would commend itself to the people at large, as the extent of the disaster is such that it can only be borne safely by the whole country. The immediate adoption of the above suggestion may avert what would be worse to the whole country than even the fire—a commercial derangement, resulting in panic and widespread ruin.

"WHERE SHALL I GO !"

To the Editor of The Tribune. SIR: I have been a Republican since the formation of the party, but I cannot, consistently with my ideas of only voting for honest men, accept ca..didates whose nomination was controlled by Collector Mur. phy. Under Mr. Murphy's management the Custom-House has become notoriously corrupt. Here is one House has become notoriously corrupt. Here is one instance: Every weigher, on accepting effice, takes an oath that he will not give any information in regard to weights. When Mr. Grinnell was appointed Collector he issued orders that any weigher violating his oath of office by giving returns to merchants would be dismissed. Now it is the interest of an importer to pay for a return from the Government weigher, even if he has goods reweighed by a city weigher. The weigher becomes rich, but the Government suffers. Mr. Grinnell was a merchant; but Collector Murphy is ignorant or consives at this blackmail arrangement. Do you ask why we submit to this? I answer, because if we do not a means of gising us trouble can easily be found by unscrupulous men. New York, Oct. 5, 1871.

MUSIC.

WACHTEL AS MANRICO.

There can be no question that Herr Wachtel is much better suited with the music of "Trovatore" than of any other opers in which he has yet appeared in New-York. Even the beast of the programme that he is the best living representative of Manrico does not seem to be much of an exaggeration when one has heard his superb delivery of the "Di quella pira," or the quieter but still passionate and brilliant Tower scene. After the former, in which he twice introduced his ringing high C, with an ease that is almost marvelous, the house last night "rose at him," and he was three times called be-fore the curtain. The best of the supporting artists-was Miss Perl, whose Arucena was a good piece of acting and a creditable musical effort also. Of Miss Rosetti's Leon ora and the Di Luna of Herr Vierling we can only say that they were conscientious and laborious interpretations, upon which the audience bestowed a generous applause The crush of spectators was immense. The doors were besieged as early as 6 o'clock in the evening.

The schooner Susan Center, from New-York for Thomaston, with coal and four, went ashore at Chatham, Mass., on the night of the 6th inst. The wreckers gas her sahare next day, leaking budly, and ran her ashore near Monomouny. A part of ner cargo was sared. The vessel is a total wreck.
